BETTER OUTLOOK IN EAST

TURF MEN IN TOUCH WITH NEW YORK SITUATION EXPECT RESUMPTION OF RACING.

Favorable Legislation Looked For at Albany in the Near Future and Recent Decision of Court of Appeals Is Considered of Importance.

New York, January 29.—"Such a fluttering among the devotees," when the news was received from Albany on Tuesday that the Court of Appeals had decided that it was no crime for a man to write upon paper the name of a horse he wished to back, hand it to another man, with the money, and thus exercise a right which all the stragglers in and all others have held to be inalienable—the right to individual betting. Will the tracks be opened upon this decision? This was what millions of men and women all over the United States were eager to know.

Next in importance is the law which now forbids bookmaking with or without writing. Who ever heard of bookmaking without writing? These are the two hurdles over which the racing men must be able to leap before the sport can be resumed on anything like the same old scale which existed up to June of 1908. There is good ground for hope that these laws will be so amended as to cause the racing associations to once more open their gates and invite the citizens of the United States to view the greatest racing in America, so high in class as to challenge admiration from all foreigners.

Much that was said at the conference was of such a nature as not to be discussed in public, but the impression was gleaned that the friends of racing will this year at Albany be able to effect remedial legislation, especially as the co-operation of the State Agricultural Society is assured, some thing which last year was not the case. So all who now are interested in the royal sport are much encouraged, and each day the news from Albany is keenly scanned.

Men, therefore, who own race horses, ought to be congratulated at the bright outlook, for every horse will then be able to race every day in the week here, without reducing the fields in Kentucky and Canada, to say nothing of the far west, where 150 days of racing are in sight for 1912. As an evidence of how hard it is to obtain horses for the comparatively few days devoted to amateur sport here and Maryland, it was told by Mr. Belmont recently that four times the price was paid last year for such horses as prevailed when professional racing was looming, and even then, said Mr. Belmont, these horses were of poor class and would be a drag on the market in the prosperous days of the turf.

"If racing is resumed here, I shall try to induce Mr. Widener to sell his French stable or to bring them here to race," said Tom Welch, as he discussed the effect of the recent decision. This is only one of many such cases. The American racing men in France are all doing well, but many of them would much prefer to race their horses in their own land if it were possible to do so. Welch, during his six-months sojourn in France last summer, saw a lot of interesting things. "The poorest horse in France can win some kind of a race," he said, "not necessarily around Paris, but in the smaller towns. This keeps the price of all horses high." Henry Ziegler and I saw three days' sport at Caen, at which $6,700 was given away. The oldest stake in France, the French St. Leger, is run at this little town. At Vincennes I saw an interesting race. It was for trotters, mounted, and over jumps. To be eligible, horses had to be able to trot five furlongs in 1:24. The claiming clause in French racing, whereby any horse in a selling race can be claimed by the owner of another in the race, works all right, and ought to be adopted here. As there are various finishing places on French courses, large red discs are exhibited so that both the jockeys and the public can see just where the finish is. You know Colin nearly lost the Belmont Stakes because his jockey forgot that the finish was beyond the regular stand.

"There are no badges for horsemen. They are identified at the gates and passed in. Free passes are unknown—everybody pays. Henry Ziegler has sold out his whole establishment and is returning to America. I heard. One cannot train a public stable until he has been three years in the country. This does not prevent one from being a private trainer for one employer. Alec Carter, the great steeple-chase rider, is now a corporal and will soon be a sergeant in the army. You know everybody must do military duty, not only in France, but in Germany. This is why few good jockeys are developed in those countries. The youths are drafted into

WELCOME NEWS FROM CANADA FOR HORSEMEN

Toronto, Ont., January 29.—The first stake announcement for the Canadian season of 1912 is most encouraging, inasmuch as it emphasizes the upward tendency of offerings for horsemen. The conditions of the King's Plate for this year were given out today by the Ontario Jockey Club and show an increase of $1,000 in the added money, the club now offering $5,000. The winner will receive the King's fifty guineas, a piece of plate and $3,500, the second horse $700 and the third horse $300, while $500 will go to the breeder of the winner. Entries will close March 1 and the race, one mile and a quarter, will be run May 18. The Stanley Produce Stakes, which will also close March 1, has been increased $1,000 and now has $2,500 added. This is a futurity stake open to the world, with nominations to run as three-year-olds in 1915. The Canadian-bred stakes, the Breeders' and Maple Leaf, both to be run next year, have been increased $500 each and now have $1,500 added. An all-round increase of purses is anticipated on the Canadian circuit this season and it is generally understood that the Ontario Jockey Club means to eventually make the King's Plate a $10,000 race.

military duty at the very time when they are becoming proficient as jockeys, and this is one reason why American riders do well in both those lands—their competition is limited. Carter is better than ever as a jockey and has just won the two best and most valuable stakes at Nice for Mr. James Hennessy. Patriotic though Frenchmen are, they would rather win the Epsom Derby than the Grand Prix despite the fact that their own stake is about two and a half times as valuable as the Derby. They know that it takes a good horse to win the Derby. "I think we have bred plenty of horses in the last thirty years that could have won the Derby, but our own stakes were so valuable that the horses were kept here. Did not Miss Woodford beat Iroquois when he was brought back in 1883? Of course Iroquois must have been good, because Mr. Lorrillard bet a fortune on him that day. I could name at least fifty American horses that might have won the Derby in their years. Speaking of good horses, you know I trained Ormondale when he won the Futurity. He may not have been the best two-year-old of that year, but he was the best on that day. He could always beat Mohawk. The latter could not have won if he had gone to the post that day. Yes, Flip Flap was a good filly in that race and later showed it. You know how "Whitey" Langdon came to buy her the next season? I had Oran for Mr. Macdonough, and he was a better horse than was Ormondale in his year. Oran one day beat Ballot. Langdon had made up his mind to bet on Ballot, but as he was leaving the paddock he met me and asked if Oran had a possible chance. "I think he'll win," I said.

"Langdon then bet on Oran, which won at 8 to 1, and on that race won something like $50,000, with part of which he bought Flip Flap from Jack Benbow. The Brighton Cup that year looked at her mercy, but she had been sick and could not have been worked enough for the race, and that no-account horse of Billy Shields, Holscher (whose name I can hardly recollect), beat her at 20 to 1. It was too bad to see such a good mare lose to such a poor horse, though I will say he was a good stayer. One of the nicest little bays I ever won was from my friend John Walters, the clubhouse commissioner. The Newcastle Stable's inquisitor, won the Sheephead Bay Handicap in 1906 at odds of 20 to 1. It is 20 to 1 in the Guide, but John Walters told me he had won me $200 each way, and all told I won $10,500. Mr. Miller and Mr. Bishop were then at the Salem track, and I sent them a telegram saying: "Have won $3,500 for each of you." There were five horses so close together at the end that not one outside the judges' stand could separate them. That's the sort of racing we had in those days. Walter Miller rode inquisitor. The mile was run in 1:37 3/4, which at that time was a record.

"In 1910 I won more races than ever before, and he moderate amounts on my horse and one other horse. The bets were all made with John Walters. At the close of the season he sent me my statement. I had lost $120 on the year. But look at the fun I had.

"How did Mr. Whitney come to buy Bashiti? Well, it looked as if he had a great future. Whitney claimed Bashiti, besides the great Oaks Oaks, Ed Smith of Ballston, was in cable communication with Mr. Whitney, who was abroad. When advised of the forthcoming sale of the Newcastle Stable, Mr. Whitney cabled to Mr. Smith to go as high as $15,000 for Bashiti. A return cable advised him that Mr. Belmont and H. Carroll Brown, of Maryland, intended to buy the filly in partnership and $15,000 was not enough. Back came the brief cable: "Buy Bashiti." Mr. Belmont and Mr. Brown bid $29,000. For $30,000 she was knocked down to Ed Smith for Mr. Whitney.

the jockey who once rode for the Newcastle Stable, is on his way back to America. His contract with Mr. Belmont runs to May 1. He wants to ride for Mr. Stern, for whom Galen Brown is training. I don't know what the outcome will be. His mother makes his contracts. She is much put out about the boy, who has not been heard from recently. When he was with us he got $6,000 a year and ten per cent. on his winnings. When Walter Miller was with us the first two years, his contract called for $7,500 each year, which went to his contract employer, W. E. Stanton. Miller ought to have money. He made plenty, but I understand his mother liked to bet on the races."

CLOSER WINS RIO GRANDE STAKES.

Newman Three-year-old Beats Sebago and Other Good Ones in Feature Race at Juarez.

El Paso, Tex., January 29.—The Rio Grande Selling Stakes and other attractive races were responsible for a large attendance at Juarez yesterday afternoon. The consistent loser led his opponents in the stake race from start to finish and won from Sebago and Ymir. Carter rode him in faultless fashion and took no chances at the end, whipping and handridding him throughout the final furlong. Sebago loomed dangerous three-sixteenths from the wire but when called upon for the supreme effort, he failed dismally. Chapultepec, of which great things were expected, evidently sulked, as he was at no time a dangerous factor. Flying Footsteps won the last race from the top heavy favorite, Lackrose. Contrary to her usual custom, she went to the front with the rise of the barrier and never allowed any of her company to get near her.

H. R. Brandt has received good reports of his three-year-olds, The Reach and Cash on Delivery, which are wintering at John Hussey's training quarters near Louisville. From what he hears both are doing well and will be in the best of condition to go into training again next spring. It is to be regretted that neither The Reach nor Cash on Delivery is engaged in the Kentucky Derby, but both will likely be nominated by Mr. Brandt for the Latonia Derby, the entries to which have not as yet closed.

John T. Ireland probably will not stay here for the entire season, though the string he is racing at Juarez will remain throughout the meeting. Mr. Ireland thinks he will leave for Kentucky about the middle of February in order to take up the training out in the blue grass region and get them ready for spring and summer racing at Lexington, Louisville and Latonia. One of these is the good mare Cherryola, which he hopes a winter's rest, will greatly benefit. He has lately heard that she is doing finely and has taken on a lot of flesh.

Trainer John Lowe has advised Dr. R. Macias, of Mexico City, that the latter's good three-year-old filly, Marzo, is hopelessly broken down as a result of her accident in her last race here, when she was jumped on, and he will ship her to Mexico City to be retired to the stud, as soon as she is in condition to stand the journey. Marzo is a daughter of Peep o'Day and Josie Cohan, by Woolsthorpe, and with her good racing record and fashionable breeding is fitted to grace any stud. Henderson & Hogan turned the filly over to John Lowe to take to Mexico City last October, and until she ran in the race in which she was cut down here, she was not out of the money in eleven starts in Mexico and won six races. While at Mexico City Dr. Macias bought her, but kept the filly in trainer Lowe's stable, as she had shown marked improvement under his care. As she has won four races since the Mexico City turfman purchased her, she has cost him nothing, and in the stud she has a chance to produce for him a Mexico Derby winner. Marzo's granddam is the noted Manola Mason, dam of the great race horse McChesney.

Kootenay, which is showing such consistency at Juarez, was bred by J. N. Camden and was one of a band of young horses sent west last year to race on the inter-mountain circuit in charge of G. H. Keene, from whom J. L. Brown purchased him when the former began reducing his stable.

VISITORS ARE FLOCKING IN NUMEROUS ARRIVALS FROM NORTH SWELL ATTENDANCE AT PALMETTO PARK.

T. M. Green Wins at First Asking in Chief Race of Day—Pink Lady Takes Purse in Juvenile Contest —Gossip from South Carolina Track.

Charleston, S. C., January 29.—An influx of visitors from the north during the past thirty-six hours accounted for a big improvement in today's attendance at Palmetto Park, and prospects for continually increasing patronage seem good, as every arriving train and steamer is adding to the visitors here. The racing was the best witnessed so far during the meeting, and some of the better class of horses made an appearance. The opening dash, in which baby racers took part, was a thriller throughout, victory finally going to G. W. J. Bissell's Pink Lady, which had acquitted herself creditably in a former essay. Her margin this afternoon was a small one. Miss Edith took second place from Cedar Green. Most of the starters raced greenly and will show to better advantage with additional racing experience.

Favorites and second choices took all the purses and their successes caused the fourteen layers extensive losses. T. M. Green, making his first start this season, came home in the feature race in advance of Spohn and Mexoana. T. M. Green's performance, considering that it was his first start in a long time, was a sparkler and insures that he will be a factor in the sprinting dashes at Palmetto Park.

Al Muller made amends for his defeat on Saturday by leading his opponents today in easy fashion and winning as his rider pleased. Silas Grump, on which Butwell had the mount on the opening day, when he was pulled up almost to a standstill on the stretch turn, ran to his best form under Fairbrother's rousing ride and upset calculations of the smart set by lasting to beat Cheer Up. Emperor William, by taking the closing dash, came in for the distinction of being the first double winner of the meeting, having previously scored last Saturday.

The opening gun in the legislative skirmish is expected to be fired in the Senate tonight at Columbia when the racing bill is slated to come up for its third reading. The racing interests are supremely confident that the bill in its present shape will fall to pass and it is more than probable that legislation of any kind adverse to racing will not be successful during this term of the Legislature.

Captain Dubaine of the Pinkerton force today arrested a gang of first-past-the-post men and quick punishment was handed out by one of the local judges, who sentenced those arrested to from sixty to ninety days in the county jail. The men arrested gave their names as V. Bennett and C. Kelly, of Baltimore, Md.; W. A. Carroll, of Louisville and "Kid" Burns of New York. A couple of telescopes and other paraphernalia were taken with the gang. They operated from a telephone located in a lumber yard about half a mile from the track and it is said were working through a New York connection. They were arrested at three o'clock and by four o'clock Bennett and Carroll were sentenced to sixty days each and Burns and Kelly for ninety days each. Burns was arrested at Marlboro on a similar charge last fall.

Nathan Frank, who left Charleston after the first postponement was announced from New York this morning and will remain for the rest of the winter.

Hugh Penny arrived from Columbia with W. P. Austin's string. Jockey Bell, who left for Toronto at the conclusion of the Columbia meeting, arrived here today. Bell is under contract to Mr. Penny, as is also jockey Olsen.

A large force of men is still at work regrading the track. When completed it will slope toward the outside and inner rail, which will insure splendid drainage when the wet season sets in.

Mayor Grace was among the visitors at Palmetto Park this afternoon. He was delighted with the sport and gave it his stamp of approval.

The management has decided to set apart Thursday as ladies' day. It will be the first of these occasions during the meeting and they will be weekly occurrences from now to the end of the racing season in Charleston.

The book which formerly operated in the enclosure set apart for colored patrons was transferred to the big ring this afternoon.

Jockey Willie Hopkins was forced to cancel his engagements this afternoon. The lad was taken sick this morning, but probably will be about again tomorrow. It is said that Herman Dugan is making an effort to purchase Hopkins' contract and Hopkins may join Jack Joyner in England.

Eddie Dugan had his first mount of the meeting on M. Cambon, one of the starters in the second race. Incidentally it was the first horse to carry the colors of Richard F. Cavann at Palmetto Park.

Zienap, which finished third in the fifth race, pulled up lame and trainer W. Brooks pronounced her broken down, which means that she will probably be retired to the stud.

Horsemen and racing folk responded generously to a subscription for the benefit of jockey A. Burton's parents and a handsome amount will be forwarded to them within a few days.

J. W. Hedrick probably will put Sir Edward, which he recently purchased from J. E. Sheldon, at steeplechasing.

ARRANGING FOR SPORTSMEN'S DINNER.

New York, January 29.—Announcement is made by Harry W. Smith, master of the Grafton hounds, that the second annual sportsmen's dinner will be given Monday, February 19, in the Astor gallery of the Waldorf-Astoria. Invitations are to be sent out shortly to prominent sportsmen of the north, east, south and west. The horse will be the central figure of the reunion, as it was last year.

FORMER RACING OFFICIAL DEAD.

New York, January 29.—Alzamora H. Battersby, for more than twenty years treasurer and general manager of the Brighton Beach Racing Association, died yesterday of diabetes at his home, Avenue Q and East Nineteenth street, Brooklyn. He was born in Ulster County, sixty-four years ago, and soon after coming to New York as a young man, became interested in racing. He associated himself with William Engeman, who developed the Brighton Beach race track into one of the greatest in the country. Mr. Battersby, who was more than six feet in height and weighed more than 300 pounds, was a most popular racing official.

NOTES OF THE TURF.

The stallion Lithos, the property of G. L. Blackford, of Elm View Stock Farm, Denison, Texas, died a few days ago.

G. H. Coyle is reported to have refused an offer of $3,000 for his good two-year-old Hawthorn, made by S. Miller Henderson.

E. Wilkerson is training the horses of J. H. McCarron, who is a son of H. McCarron, in whose name the horses formerly raced.

Maurice Welsh, a brother of Thomas Welsh, is training Harlem Lass, Miss Moments, and others for Barney Flynn of New York, and they will race at Charleston.

The funeral of the late jockey, A. Burton, who was killed at Charleston last week, was held yesterday at Covington, Ky. The body will be brought to Chicago for interment.

The first foal by the triple Derby winner Meelick is reported by G. L. Blackford and arrived at Elm View Stud, Denison, Texas, on January 10. The foal is a roan chestnut colt out of Paschal, by Candlemas, and resembles his sire.

The following dates have been chosen by the Metropolitan Racing Association for the Dufferin Park meetings at Toronto, Ont., this season—July 31 to August 7, and September 14 to September 21. The association will offer no purse less than $250 and is arranging to give handicaps carrying a value of $1,000.

PREDICTS HILDRETH WILL GET LICENSE.

New York, January 29.—John S. McDonald, who went abroad two months ago to select broodmares for W. K. Vanderbilt at the December sales at Newmarket, has returned to America. Mr. McDonald has been in close touch with prominent English turfmen and declares positively that S. C. Hildreth will be given a license to train, but not necessarily at Newmarket, because that famous place is already overrun with horses.

"There are any number of suitable places in England which can be leased by Charles Kohler," said Mr. McDonald today, "and Hildreth could train his horses at such places if the stewards approve his application for a license. It would be no reflection on him if he is denied a license to train at Newmarket, because any number of Englishmen are in the same situation who would like to train on the historic grounds, but are denied the privilege because of overcrowding now complained of. The turf is in danger of being cut up by too many horses."

"This is why the turf gallops at Epsom have been closed for a period of four months. It is done to give the turf a chance to grow after it has been used excessively for many years. The closing of the Epsom training grounds caused a great outcry on the part of horse owners, but the lessees of the privileges gave good reason for conserving the grounds. It is at Epsom that Wootton, the Australian trainer, trains Lomond, the Derby favorite."

"No one need have any fear that Mr. Hildreth will be denied a license, but jockey Shilling, who was to have ridden for the stable, may find that he is not as welcome as his employer. The English Jockey Club is not in the habit of explaining its actions any more than is our Jockey Club, but I have good reason to believe that Shilling will be denied a license to ride. Without knowing definitely, it is safe to assume that those in control of the racing in England have not forgotten the cutting scrape at Sheephead Bay, when Shilling was accused of attacking his employer, R. L. Thomas. I do not know that this is the particular bar against Shilling, but my information is that he will not be permitted to ride."

Mr. Vanderbilt's superintendent is now busy constructing a number of buildings for his employer's new stud farm at Queensay, not far from Deauville, where the soil is rich and where other surroundings are ideal for the maintenance of his great stud. For the last fifteen years Mr. Vanderbilt's stud has been at Villebon, and a change is considered prudent. Many of the most successful English breeders believe in seeking new grounds for breeding purposes, and this is why many have settled in Ireland.

LEGISLATORS WERE FAVORABLY IMPRESSED.

Concerning the recent visit of members of the Legislature to Palmetto Park, the Charleston News and Courier has this to say:

"Those in the party who had accepted the invitation to the Charleston Fair and Racing Association to inspect Palmetto Park, appeared to enjoy themselves immensely. The members of the fair sex took an active interest in the proceedings. Several of the legislators were heard to express their astonishment at the size of the plant, stating that they had not dreamed that the proposition was one of such magnitude. They found the survey of the plant from the grandstand an impressive one. Knowing that the members of the Legislature were present more or less on a critical errand, preparatory to taking action on the so-called anti-racing bill introduced into the General Assembly a few days ago, a large number of the local race track enthusiasts put the question straight up to the solons. Whether for or against the race track, the legislators appeared to be immensely entertained by the various races during the afternoon. In answering queries the legislators, as a general rule, replied that they were in favor of the track alone, provided they were convinced that the majority of the citizens of this city wanted it. None of them could be prevailed upon to forecast the probable fate of the so-called anti-racing bill, the consensus of opinion being that the General Assembly faced a hard fight on this point."

The News and Courier also prints the following interesting item:

"Col. Alfred Aldrich, of Barnwell, was among the guests of the city yesterday. Colonel Aldrich was a member of the old South Carolina Jockey Club and for many years trained and raced horses on the famous Washington Race course of this city. Colonel Aldrich said in conversation that he had spent the afternoon at Palmetto Park, and that he had been greatly impressed by the magnitude of the plant of the Charleston Fair and Racing Association. He said that he was much pleased with the character of sport provided at the new track. The racing, he said, was of a high order. The horses were started by a competent starter. For a new track, the time was good, and the horses were run for the best to win. He said he had taken pleasure in introducing members of the General Assembly to prominent and well-informed Charlestonians, such as Capt. F. W. Wagner, ex-Chief of Police Boyle, Alderman Morris and others, and asked for an expression of opinion from these gentlemen as to whether a majority of the citizens of Charleston favored racing as conducted by this association. They said it was their opinion that if he put to a vote a very decided majority of the people of the city were in favor of the continuance of the sport. Colonel Aldrich added that he could see for himself after the program of the afternoon had been run off that the visitors were pleased with the entertainment furnished them."

ANSWERS TO QUERIES.

C. E. R., Rochester, N. Y. Would like to oblige you, but have no information on the matter inquired about.

C. K., Cincinnati, O. In computing percentages of winning favorites only the horses that plainly are favorites are considered.

J. W. N., Chicago. One can only become expert in recognizing and timing horses at work through continued practice at the tracks.

MISS EDITH made up ground steadily, was gaining at the end and would have won in another stride. CEDAR GREEN also closed a gap and finished fast and close up. SPIRELLA began fast and set the pace, but caused a bad mix-up when the horses out. GOWELL ran fairly well. RED WIDOW showed speed and probably will improve.
